Dear President Davis:

On behalf of the Central Intelligence Agency, thank you for taking time from your busy schedule to visit with us last Thursday.

We hope you found the day worthwhile and that it afforded you a better insight into the mission, workings and thrust of the Agency. Your reaction, along with any suggestions for future meetings, would be appreciated. I place enormous value on the views of persons of your stature and have established as one of my major goals a continuation of substantive dialogue with institutions of higher education. Please make us aware of your impressions.

I hope you had a pleasant and safe journey home and I look forward to seeing you again.

Sincerely yours,
